Wills and Kate eating in the dark

Prince William and Kate Middleton are reported to enjoy a restaurant who serves food in the dark. There are many reasons why this makes a ton of sense. The Dans Le Noir owners give one reason, which is that diners are told their taste buds are heightened when they cannot see. While that sounds pleasant and completely realistic, other reasons seem more likely.

William has stated before that he is “shy” and that the 27-year-old isn't comfortable with all the eyes on him. So it stands to reason that this constantly photographed couple would like to go eat somewhere that no one can see them. Apparently they like the privacy so much, they've been back to the restaurant several times.
